

Strikes beginning to harm traffic at Lisbon

24/09/2018

A series of strikes called by the Sindicato dos Estivadores e da Actividade Logística port union in Portugal against anti-union and exploitative labour measures is slowly but surely beginning to have an impact on the country’s seven main ports.

Continue reading this article...

Register for a FREE one-month trial to continue this article

Want to read more before deciding on a subscription? It only takes a minute to sign up for a free account and you’ll get to enjoy:

- Weekly newsletters providing valuable news and information on the ports and terminals sector
- Full access to our news archive
- Live and archived webinars, podcasts and videos
- Articles on innovations and current trends in the ports and terminals industry
- Our extensive archive of data, research and intelligence

Already subscribed? SIGN IN now

Get more free content

SIGN UP TODAY

Ready to subscribe? Choose from one of our subscription packages for unlimited access!

- > Industry Database

> Coastlink Conference
- > Advertise

> GreenPort Congress & Cruise
- > About Us

> GreenPort Congress Oceania
- > Contact Us

> A-Z Listing

PORTSTRATEGY

Register for FREE!

Sign up to Port Strategy & GreenPort today to access 3 articles free per month!

JOIN NOW

